FAREWELL

Well Seniors, we are finally approaching the time when we will no longer be considered part of the student body of Lyons High School.

Maybe we can't honestly say we've loved every minute of it but we can say that we will never forget the many good times we've had here. Nowhere else in our life will we make so many fond memories.

Remember the day we received our class rings! Some of us could hardly wait to exchange them with our "special friends". Then there are the many times we all sat together in the front of the auditorium and received the envy of the underclassmen as we marched out ahead of them all. And we can never forget the Senior football game even if it didn't work out like we would have liked for it to. We all have our own private memories also. No matter how long we stay away from Lyons High School these and many other memories will stay with us and keep us close, though we are miles apart.

In a few months we will all be going our own way, many of us never to meet again. Some of us will be successful in life and some will be unsuccessful, just as it was during our school days together. However we can be sure that we are better prepared to be a success in life than many others before us. It is up to each one of us to make the best we can of what we have.

Good luck to each of you and may God Bless you all. j

The following is an original poem by an eighth grade English student, Linda Brogdon.

DONALD BASS

It happened in the classroom,
 That very embarrassing day!
 My teacher's voice grew dimmer
 And suddenly faded away!

I was thinking and was dreaming
 About the bright, gay night.
 When Prince Charming Donald
 Would come into my sight!

I started getting excited
 And my head began to whirl.
 I had to press my dress,
 And my hair just had to curl.

When suddenly I was awakened!
 By giggles, and laughs, and glee.
 My face grew red with embarrassment,
 As everyone was staring at me!

For while I had been dreaming,
 The question my teacher had asked
 Was, Who discovered America?
 And I had said Donald Bass!

DON'T FORGET SENIOR PLAY

TONIGHT

8:00 P.M.

AUDITORIUM

"Platter Chatter"

The Reverend Mr. Black and I were at the Battle of New Orleans when the British said: "I wanna go home." Our leader, Johnny Reb, wondered what his Mary would say when she heard about Bonaparte's Retreat. In the distance a black land farmer rode his Tennessee stud in the middle of this no man's land.

The Everglades was also a scene of fiery battle. Three bells rang in the church steeple. Along the road we could see Frankie's man Johnny complaining about the life of a poor boy. This traveling man had escaped from the chain gang when they had made a camp at Miller's Cave.

At Folsom Prison, Luther played
 the boogie as smiling Bill McCall jokingly said: "I guess things happen this way." The country boy knew that he had to walk like a man because it was springtime in Alaska. Mr. Bass Men said from a nearby cell: "don't tempt me to drink some mountain dew because that white lightning is too strong!"

It's a soldier's joy to walk right in to South Street. I still remember when the rhythm of the rain said hello trouble and hello walls. A big river would flow when the city lights would not help those who went walking after midnight. You could really have a wild week-end if you tried to follow the boys on a train of love.
 You would get rhythm if you enjoyed singing the blues at Heart break Hotel in Kansas City.

Pad news traveled fast when Johnny Yuma, the rebel, got stripes for shooting off the wings of a dove. Pus Po' folks tried to sink the Bismark when Linda became the girl he found in the USA. The auctioneer told all over the world about his once a week love. Johnny said I'm gonna quit walking the floor over you and start moving on.

It's left up to you to name the 56 song titles enclosed in this chatter.
